Headline:
Sunshine on Sunday and Monday, then cloudier.

Today:
Any fog and cloud soon clearing for most to give a fine and bright day with plenty of sun, though some southern coasts may still see cloud through the day. Feeling mild despite being breezy. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Though remaining clear at first, low cloud soon developing across the whole region, perhaps turning to fog in places. Chilly, with a risk of frost and light winds. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Monday:
Cloudy to start, though this soon breaks up to give a clear day with plenty of sunshine and light winds. Fog patches likely to reform into the night. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Turning colder Tuesday, with patchy cloud and sunny spells. Showers of rain then arrive during the evening, continuing through Wednesday and Thursday. Frost and fog likely during the nights.
